

Sometimes forward thinking requires thinking backwards.

myStaffingPro® was built by looking at how it will actually be used. And we looked at it from every angle — applicants, recruiting and HR professionals, even the IT department.

In essence we worked in reverse. Starting with the end goal we designed, engineered and built an applicant tracking system just for you.

myStaffingPro®

So here's where we started.

To build myStaffingPro, we repeatedly asked a simple question: 'what would I do next?'

Whether it's a potential candidate applying for a job, or an HR professional reviewing submissions, our ATS was built with an awareness of what our end users might want to do next.

The technical name? Dynamic workflow. You may not even notice it when you start using it — and that's exactly how it should be. Seamless.

Second best wasn't an option.

How can you apply for a job if the ATS is down?

You can't. That's why so many HR professionals and job seekers are moving to myStaffingPro, and why we place so much emphasis on maintaining and providing a cloud-based system that is reliable.

99.9

Our 99.9% uptime rating means that if a potential candidate is ready to apply for a job — early morning or late at night — myStaffingPro is up and running.

It means that if you need to post a new job at midnight to meet a deadline, myStaffingPro is ready. Because if the system is offline, so are you.

Breaking up is hard to do.

We get it. Maybe you're using an Applicant Tracking System that is constantly going down or confusing to use, maybe you're tied to software that's part of a larger suite.

You've probably learned to navigate its shortcomings, and it's familiar. But sometimes, the cost of staying together is higher than transitioning to a better system.

How many candidates do you lose each month who quit the application halfway through because of a poor user interface?

How many times is your HR team ready to get to work but the system is down?

How much of a loss in productivity is an inadequate system costing you?

We understand what you're up against, and know that the transition process is critical to your success.

myStaffingPro makes your transition easy.

1. First of all, your current system will continue running while we set up myStaffingPro so you can keep up with day-to-day business.
2. You'll have a full transition schedule and clear timelines.
3. We'll also make sure your team is properly trained and that you have the support you need to ensure a smooth transition.
4. We're good listeners. So if you have specific milestones that need to happen by a certain date, tell us and we'll work with you to make them happen. Just like it should be. No surprises.

Moving to a new ATS is a big decision.

Ready to take myStaffingPro for a test drive?

The first step is to see it in action — see if it feels right for your organization. Maybe you want to invite a few members of your team to be there to ask questions. Our team is ready to help.

It's time to start using a more powerful human resource.
